GEISER'S
FAIR CHANCE
FARM

BELOIT, KANSAS

FOREWORD

Thank you, flower lovers, for your fine orders of the past seasons. Propagation has been very slow during the war years and may continue to be so until the labor situation eases up. However, Melvin G. Geiser (ex-Captain, Ord. Dept., U. S. Army) after 5 years in the service has returned to his hobby of growing iris, the work which he started in 1929 with only 3 "Her Majesty" iris roots. Plantings are constantly being made and next year we hope to list around 200 new varieties which have been tried and tested on our farm.

If anyone is interested in varieties not listed, write and in all probability we have the variety or can secure same for you at current market prices.

We have customers in every state and we make "no bones" about not growing the highest priced sorts. We endeavor to test new kinds and if they withstand the rigors of our Kansas hot winds and severe winters then we offer that variety at the lowest price possible.

We do not substitute (except in collections) for we may guess wrong and give you a variety which you already have; refunds promptly made if sold out. It is to your advantage to name one or more substitutes when placing your order this season.

We do not maintain fancy exhibition gardens, however you are welcome at the farm 10¾ miles south of Beloit on K-State highway 14, and 3 miles west.

For terms of sale, see inside back cover.

Sincerely,

MELVIN G. GEISER

GEORGE W. GEISER

ALICE M. GEISER

RE-BLOOMING (Fall Blooming) BEARDED IRIS

Each season these flower two or more times—Spring and Fall. Some have a record of blooming even more. Try them and pick a bouquet in November, we have. They are just as hardy as any Iris but they should be given a short rest after the spring blooming season then watered heavily to produce the second crop of flowers. Divide frequently.

POSTPAID if Iris order totals $2.00 or more
